

Directors Job Description

Dates Required: Tuesday 16th May + any rehearsal sessions scheduled at your discretion

Venue: Britons Protection, Bridgewater Street Manchester

The Liontamers Theatre Company are looking for a team of dedicated emerging directors to present short rehearsed readings of play extracts submitted by local writers for regular Unearthed Treasures showcase of writers work to be held at a central Manchester location on 16th May.

The candidates are responsible for casting and scheduling rehearsals and will be given a free reign to work with the pre-selected pieces as they wish subject to the discretion and advice of the artistic director.

We are keen to work with emerging directors and recent graduates who can prove their dedication to the craft of directing and request that this is reflected in their application.

Full support will be given to the successful candidate to achieve a high standard of presentation although it must be noted that the aim of rehearsed readings of this nature serve mainly to allow the writers to hear their work heard aloud to enable them to continue the development of their work. Please send your applications of a covering letter and cv to
